

Dear Andrea,

I have always been delighted at the prospect of a new day, a fresh try, one more start with perhaps a bit of magic waiting somewhere behind the morning. With each new day comes the chance to start again; to dust ourselves off and begin anew, filled with a fresh determination. Each day we live is a precious gift. It is up to us to treat it so. There are no guarantees in life. Life is unpredictable and there may not be a 'later'. This year has brought about many unforeseen events in my own life that make me appreciate life even more. I'd like to pass along to my readers the importance of doing and saying today what you want and need to do now. I hope you will take my advice on this one!

Andrea's Advice

Go now. Act now. Model now. Live now. Do now, but most of all... DREAM NOW!

At some point in your future you might look back on all of the things you ever wanted to do in your life and you will either be saying, "I did it" or, "I wish I had." If you fall into the 'I wish' category, there is no time like right now for making those words a reality. If you chose the latter, you need do nothing. Wishing is free. Everything else comes with a price.

Andrea's words to live by....

LIVE OUT LOUD

Whether or not you believe it, happily ever after is not what having dreams are for. It is in the quest and the journey and what you learn along the way that really matters. By Andrea Patrick Forte.

I want you to fall in love with your goals in life and your life. Try to be free from all of life's stress and distractions and live your dream life. Get off of this treadmill of worry, procrastination and low-productivity and create whatever it is you envision your life to be. We all yearn to discover how to LIVE OUT LOUD with more joy, more impact and ultimately more fulfillment. I believe having dreams inspires this. So, I want you to start saying your dreams, admitting your dreams, start planning your dreams and most of all, start working really hard for your dreams. Because dreams are there just waiting for you to make them come true.

ANDREA'S TIPS

Dream... and inspire success.

Believe... that there are no limits.

Dare... to move ahead.

Dear Andrea, How do you become a commercial print model?

Audrie
Austin, TX

Dear Audrie,

Well, first of all, there is no height or age limit for this type of modeling. This encompasses all types of people from short to tall, thin to heavy-set to a character type to a supermodel, who can become a working model and make a good living. It typically will pay from $50 to $250 an hour plus bonuses anywhere from $500 to $4000 (or more) for just one ad. So, if you see yourself as the girl next door, a mom, a businessman, the handyman, a doctor, a nurse or all around guy or gal, look into the commercial print side of modeling. You just might see you don't have to be 5'9", super-thin and a supermodel to make a living as one. Believe you can achieve anything!

Dear Andrea,

Do I need to be listed with just one agency as a commercial print model?
Laura
Marina Del Rey, CA

Dear Laura,

One agency is a good start, but I have to say that unfortunately this alone will not get you enough opportunities for work. Most of the commercial print agencies will work with you on a 'freelance' basis which means you can work with many agencies. Even strong commercial print agencies can only accept so many phone calls from advertisers and clients, so I would advise you to put yourself out there to as many agencies that will accept you. This way you will open yourself up to as many opportunities as possible.
